

FAIR GLOBAL TRADE AGAINST POVERTY-DRIVEN MIGRATION

SHAPING MIGRATION – JUSTLY AND GLOBALLY

Friedrich-Ebert-Stiftung | Hiroshimastraße 28 | 10785 Berlin
All messages at: www.fes.de/lnk/migration-gestalten

MESSAGE 10/10

FAIR GLOBAL TRADE AGAINST POVERTY-DRIVEN MIGRATION

The world economy is one reason why people have to leave their homes in the face of poverty and hunger. Only fair global trade establishes and maintains the basis of people's life.

Agriculture in the developing countries, for example, needs to be protected against cheap vegetables and meat from multinational food corporations. Human rights, labour rights and environmental protection must have priority over the interests of multinational enterprises.